No. 23, RAMPART ROW,

Opposite the Floral Fountain, next to Bombay Gazette Office

A. MENIST,
OCULIST OPTICIAN,

RESPECTFULLY announces that, having received numerous solicitations, he has been again induced to pay a professional visit to this great city; but his stay will be limited, as important affairs demand his presence in Europe.

The superiority of his Spectacles, Eye-glasses, and Binoculars is so well known throughout India, that it is not necessary further to mention it. Mr. Menist has devoted a lifetime to the profession, and the success which has attended his treatment of numerous difficult and apparently hopeless cases of defective vision sufficiently guarantee his skill.

Mr. Menist may be consulted at the Establishment of his agents.

The Bombay Gazette

MONDAY, MARCH 6, 1882.

THE latest telegrams received respecting the attempt to assassinate the Queen convey the gratifying intelligence that Her Majesty has sustained no ill effects from the shock and excitement to which she was subjected. It is only fair to say that she has borne with coolness and courage the numerous attacks which have been made upon her; and even on the more critical occasion of Oxford's attack, when she was but a girl, she maintained her entire self-possession, while her young husband and aged Ministers were overcome with emotion. We can well imagine the magnitude of that universal sympathy which we are informed is being expressed for her. It will doubtless equal in sincerity, though perhaps not in popular enthusiasm, that which followed the first attempt upon her life. On that occasion the public feeling was unusually stirred by the condition of Her Majesty, and also by reason of the peculiar [illegible] which the English people manifested towards their girl-monarch. At that memorable period the indignation [illegible] found splendid demonstration. The Lords, the Commons with their Speaker at their head, the Lord Major and the Sheriffs of London and Middlesex, and other bodies went in state to present addresses of sympathy and congratulation. The example of that date will probably be followed as far as the adopting of addresses by the Houses of Parliament and the municipalities of the realm. Nay, further, their number will, no doubt, be enhanced by the loyalty of the numerous legislatures and municipalities which the extension of self-government throughout Her Majesty's Empire has called into existence during the last forty years.

While the public feeling is thus finding an outlet in sympathetic demonstrations of gratitude, the Government will have the more responsible duty imposed upon them of protecting the person of the Queen from further attack. It is an unquestionable fact that in the majority of cases of attempted regicide the example of one desperado or maniac, as the case may be, is contagious, and others of his kind are incited to renew his effort by the mere effect of the crime on their disordered imaginations. It will be remembered that Edward Oxford, the first to attack her, expressed his conviction that others would be driven as if by a spell to repeat his attempt. Events proved the truth of Oxford's prediction. Two years afterwards Francis attacked her, and within seventeen days of his conviction the hump-backed lad Bean made his attempt. O'Connor's attempt in 1872 was hardly serious. He only held an empty pistol in his hand, and that, as he said, for the purpose of drawing attention to the petition which he desired to present. Leaving this attempt out of consideration, it is nearly thirty-two years since Pate struck her over the head with his cane. The first four attempts on her life, therefore, were made within ten years, and three were made within two. The deduction to be drawn from previous cases is that they do not come singly; and when it is added that regicides have been preternaturally active during the last twelve months, there are grave reasons for extreme precautions to be taken against wandering lunatics for some time to come. It is absurd, in connection with the necessity of guarding Her Majesty's life, to even imply a comparison of her situation with the enforced seclusion of the Emperor of Russia. Alexander III. is terrorised by the knowledge that a secret organisation of unknown, but undoubtedly vast, dimensions exists for the main purpose of assassinating the Czar. The conspirators, having succeeded in slaying his father, have sworn to slay him, and have told him so. He knows that to go forth would give the Nihilists the opportunity they seek, and that a police honeycombed with dissaffection is not able to protect him. In the case of Queen Victoria her safety would be the first care of every sane man in the kingdom, and the vigilance of the police ought to be sufficient to keep suspicious-looking characters, such as her present assailant, like most of his predecessors, seems to have been, at a safe distance from her person. It has transpired that the prisoner was once the inmate of a lunatic asylum, and he has himself disclaimed any intention to commit murder, desiring only to excite alarm. This statement may be taken for what it is worth. It is all very well to say he had no murderous intention; but when a man fires a bullet at his sovereign, it is only fair to treat his subsequent disclaimers of regicidal designs with suspi[illegible] The special Act passed by Sir Robert P[illegible] the Queen's [illegible] cities renders it undesirable alarm Her [illegible] atinue to be used. When Europeans [illegible] sites consecrated to the [illegible] dead, it is not safe to [illegible] d hesitate to apply the [illegible]ase of the Parsee Towers [illegible] the continuance subordinated to the interests of the members of the twenty strokes with the birch rod; while Pate was condemned to the major penalty of seven years' transportation. Oxford was tried under the old law treating the offence as high treason, and being acquitted on the ground of insanity, was ordered to be "confined during Her Majesty's pleasure." He was sent to Broadmoor Criminal Lunatic Asylum, from which, we believe, he was discharged two or three years ago. If the latest assailant is proved to be a lunatic, of course there is no alternative but to follow the precedent set in Oxford's case. We hope, however, that, as in Guiteau's case, a reasonable distinction will be drawn between a genuine maniac and a scoundrel whose madness consists of a morbid hungering for notoriety. If it be possible to inflict punishment, we hope it may be of such a nature as to break the "spell" which, according to Edward Oxford, impels these ruffians to such a cowardly crime.

IF we had a grudge against the Parsee community, we should be glad to see the advice tendered by a writer in a vernacular paper with respect to houses and land on Malabar Hill generally carried out. The counsel in question is that every European occupying bungalows near the Towers of Silence belonging to Parsee landlords should at once be given notice to quit, and the said bungalows re-let to none but Parsee tenants; and that all building land in that neighbourhood now in Parsee hands should be forthwith purchased by the Punchayet, so that it should not be encumbered with houses in which Europeans might come to live. We pass over the recommendation that permission to Europeans to visit the enclosure on the top of the hill where the Towers stand should be invariably refused, [illegible] fact that the spot in question is the most desirable for residential purposes in the whole island should be kept before the public mind. This particular suggestion is based upon a complete misapprehension of the nature of the objection entertained by many Europeans to the existence of the Towers in the midst of a large and increasing population. That objection does not arise from any covetous desire to possess the spacious plateau on the highest part of the hill, but from an ingrained prejudice against having the dead disposed of in the midst of the living. For our part we regard that prejudice as one not necessarily entitled to either more or less respect than any other prejudice. If it can be shown to have no foundation in fact and reason, it should be disregarded. But it will assuredly not be lessened in the particular case of the Towers of Silence by a jealous exclusion of inquirers who may be disposed to see for themselves whether the enclosure on the top of the hill conceals horrors which the imagination easily pictures to itself, or whether there is really nothing more abhorrent to the mind than a spacious park, with nothing beyond a couple of score of vultures idling on the trees to suggest that the place is not a right joyous pleasaunce. The sentimental objection would be most readily minimised by throwing the grounds around the Towers open to the public as a pleasure resort at stated times, so that the feelings of repulsion arising from the surmises of the imagination might be corrected by contemplation of the reality. The sanitary objection may or may not be valid; it is stated that European authority of unquestionable scientific value will prove that there is nothing to be feared from the disposal of the dead in the Towers. If such evidence be forthcoming, let it be made public; it may neutralise the alarming statements by which Dr. Cook terrified the Corporation into voting for the covering in of the Malabar Hill Reservoir. All that can be fairly adduced on either side of the controversy, whether in its sentimental or its sanitary aspect, it is for the interest of the Parsees and the general public alike to have published. It is always the unknown that excites most dread and repulsion; when once the exact state of matters is realised a sound judgment can be arrived at without bias or panic.

But the proposal to boycott Europeans, and to prevent their obtaining residences in the [illegible] any part of Malabar Hill round about the enclosure within which the Towers of Silence stand, is not to be regarded as a legitimate exercise of controversial rights. It is seriously recommended, as if it were a religious duty, that Parsee owners of house property should at once begin to evict European tenants. Mr. Bromley is mentioned by name as the first victim, for it was in the compound of his bungalow that the arm of a child was found or was said to have been found, having been presumably dropped there by some bird in its flight. This story does not appear to have been verified; the police failed to obtain any information about the trouvaille, and it is generally discredited. But why should the mere fact that such a tale became current subject the occupier of the bungalow to the penalty of a notice to quit? And, what is still more indefensible, it is recommended that all other Europeans should be turned out bag and baggage, without any consideration whatever, so that the vultures may have ample room and verge enough for their avocation. The writer argues that as the property belongs to Parsees, they have a right to turn out whom they please, and to let it to whom they please. This is the Duke of Newcastle's dictum that "a man may do what he likes with his own" brought home to our own doors. But His Grace gave arrogant expression to that conception of the rights of property half a century since. Even he would scarcely venture upon such an utterance at the present day. The Irish landlords have found to their cost that it is a very dangerous thing to push to the utmost rights which the law may give over the comfort and convenience of large numbers of the community. The law is liable to modification upon cause shown. Does any one in his senses suppose that the European community would remain quiescent while Europeans were, as such, turned bodily off the one saubrious hill about Bombay, to enable the Parsees to keep the Towers of Silence indefinitely on their present site? It is not merely proposed that they shall be turned out of existing bungalows, but that the Punchayet shall buy up all the surrounding land not already the property of individual Parsees, so that it may not be built upon at all. This land would be thus tied up in perpetuity in the hands of trustees, not that they might use it for any purpose, religious or secular, but that they might prevent any of the rest of the population from enjoying it.

It is difficult to believe that such advice is seriously given. It would be very disastrous indeed for the Parsee community were any attempt made to carry it into effect. The religious societies of Europe which succeeded in acquiring and locking up land needed by the community at large found reason to regret the success which attended their efforts. Will this astute Parsee counsellor point to a single European nation, outside of Russia, where such lands have not been confiscated? In England the lands of the religious houses were seized after the Reformation, and on the Continent after the Revolution. It is quite certain that neither the Parsee Punchayet nor any similar body will be allowed at the present day to play the dog in the manger with regard to lands which they would never seek to acquire at all if the Towers of Silence were not left where they are. The attempt would bring matters to a crisis in six months. There is no use in mincing matters; if so unjust and impolitic a course be ventured upon, the Towers will be closed for good and all, and the Punchayet, when too late, will see the folly of pushing abstract rights beyond the point of public endurance. There should be no delusion on this point. Church-yards and cemeteries are closed in Europe without compensation or apology [illegible]

A COMMITTEE has been appointed by the Government of India to inquire into the general working of the Government Police Force on Indian railways. A Sub-committee consisting of Mr. F. B. Peacock, Lieut.-Col. H. M. S. Clarke, and Major W. A. Y. Wallace, R. E., has been deputed to make local inquiries. These gentlemen have already visited Allahabad, and are now in Bombay. They will proceed to Madras to-morrow, and will return to this city on the 12th before proceeding northward to other railway centres. The object in view is to elicit information and expressions of opinion with regard to the working of the different systems of police. It is considered especially desirable to obtain the views of large consignors of goods as to the efficiency or otherwise of the police at the different stations. Suggestions for the improvement of the existing systems will no doubt receive attention, and we shall be glad to open our columns to correspondents on the subject. One of the points upon which the Sub-committee is directed to obtain information is, whether in tracts of country where people who live by crime are numerous the railways are used to facilitate the operations of the marauders. This will be an interesting point on which the Committee may be expected to throw light.

THE BRIGADE-SURGEONCY AT QUETTA.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "BOMBAY GAZETTE,"

SIR,—Your contemporary, in his indignation at the attempt to remove Dr. Cook from the Medical School, omits to state that very recently Dr. Cook applied officially for the appointment of Sanitary Commissioner, intending, consequently, to leave of his own accord the post he now occupies; but his request was negatived by Government. Doubtless going to Quetta would have entailed some hardship, whilst the duties of Sanitary Commissioner are comparatively speaking pleasant and well remunerated.

GRIEVANCES OF CIVIL ENGINEERS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "BOMBAY GAZETTE."

SIR,—The grievances of civil engineers in India, alluded to in a recent issue of the Bombay Gazette, are apparently that they do not draw the same pay as the military engineers in the same grades of the department; also that they do not enjoy the same advantages of leave and pension. The conditions of their employment were well known to them at the time they accepted appointments. The mistake, therefore, appears to have been to suppose that the conditions laid down with a view to economy in establishments on public works could possibly give satisfaction when the candidates for employment had once secured appointments. It would seem now that the way to gauge the conditions of civil engineers under their special contracts would be to compare their positions with those of the military officers at the same periods of their services. It is believed that the civil engineers started on higher salaries, and have yet time before them to get the benefit of increased pensions and more liberal leave rules which have been only lately given to older services. Another thing must be considered. Have the civil engineers had good promotion? Have individuals of

HOUSE ASSESSMENT AT BANGALORE.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

BANGALORE, MARCH 4.

A rather crowded meeting of land-owners was held on Saturday, in the rink premises, to protest against the action of Major Maltby, Municipal President, in enforcing the payment of house assessment for a full year in advance, instead of half-yearly as heretofore. A resolution was proposed and adopted to memorialise the Resident praying for the indulgence of paying assessment half-yearly, as has been the practice for upwards of twenty years The memorial was signed by all the land-owners present, and a committee was formed for presenting it to the Resident.

ORGANISATION OF THE INDIAN MARINE.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

CALCUTTA, MARCH 4.

A despatch from the Secretary of State on the subject of the organisation of the Indian Marine is published. Captain H. W. Brent, R.N., has been appointed Director of the whole establishment, afloat and ashore, appertaining to the Indian Marine. The surveys are placed under the Director of Marine, who will exercise administrative authority under the orders of the Government of India, Military and Marine Department.

The head-quarters will be Bombay, and he will visit the establishments at Calcutta and elsewhere whenever necessary. The Deputy Director will have a permanent residence in the dockyard at Calcutta. The appointments of Superintendent of Marine at Calcutta and Bombay, and Secretary to the Superintendent of Marine, Calcutta, are abolished. The office of the Deputy Director is conferred on Captain Carew. The salary of the Director is Rs. 2,500, and Deputy Director Rs. 1,800. The office of Director of Indian Marine is tenable for five years. The changes come into effect on 1st April, except that Captain Brent is to assume charge of his office on the date of his arrival in Bombay.

THE FINANCIAL STATEMENT, 1881-82.

In the Financial Statement for 1881-82 it is announced that the Comptroller-General would in future submit annually to the Government of India a report in which the final accounts of the year preceding would be compared with the budget estimates for that year, as also with the accounts of the previous year, and explanations of increase or decrease apparent therefrom would be afforded. The first report due under this arrangement, relating to the final accounts and actuals for 1880-81, has been received. It is very briefly summarised, and shows the following results:—Revenue, £72,560,000; expenditure, £76,604,000; deficit, £4,044,000. Excluding revenue and expenditure on account of war, the deficit would be turned into a surplus of £6,250,000. The deficit estimated was £6,219,000. The accounts therefore show a favourable result on the regular estimate by £2,175,000. The greater part of this difference, however, is only nominal.

THE CALCUTTA POLICE.

Contrary to previous announcements, Mr. H. G. Wilkins, District Superintendent, 5th grade, succeeds Mr. J. Lambert as Deputy Commissioner of Police, Calcutta.

We can only trust that the officers and crew of the Ruby will carry away with them as pleasant reminiscences as those they leave behind."

MR. JUSTICE PONTIFEX, of the Calcutta High Court, has, it is said, accepted the post of Legal Adviser to the Secretary of State for India.

COLONEL YULE, R.E., is reported to be engaged on a memoir of his old friend and brother-officer, General Baker, of the same corps.

IT is believed that the Hon'ble George Napier, of the Punjab Commission, will be appointed Private Secretary to Sir Alfred Lyall.

LIEUTENANT-COLONEL MOORE, who has served a succession of Commanders-in-Chief as Persian Interpreter is expected in India, to join Sir Donald Stewart's personal staff, almost immediately.

SIRDAR MAHOMED AFZUL KHAN, C. S. I., who has been appointed Agent of the British Government at Kabul, will proceed very shortly to Peshawur, to make all necessary arrangements for his journey into Afghanistan. His establishment will, it is thought, be exactly similar to that of our Agent at Kabul during Shere Ali's reign. The Amir will send an escort to conduct the Agent to his capital. A PARSEE correspondent writes the following in the Bombay Samachar:—"The present agitation is carried on by a number of childish Europeans to possess themselves of the hill. To put a stop to the controversy once for all, we must take the following steps: (1) The bungalow at present occupied by Mr. Bromley is too near the Towers. If it belongs to a Parsee, he must ask Mr. Bromley to vacate it; and it must not be let to anybody else but a Parsee. (2) All grounds near the Towers belonging to Parsees should be given up to the Trustees. (3) If there be any bungalows near the Towers, and owned by non-Zoroastrians, the Trustees ought to buy them up. (4) All the opinions given by eminent European visitors as to the healthiness of the Towers should be printed in a collective form, to be kept in readiness in case of emergency. (5) The permission at present freely given to Europeans to visit the Towers should be withheld, as the delightful position of the hill tempts them to try and possess themselves of the property."

ON Thursday last Her Highness the Begum of Bhopal paid a State visit to His Excellency the Viceroy at Government House, Calcutta. The usual ceremonies were gone through. Her Highness presented a nuzzur of 150 gold-mohurs, which were touched and remitted. The Begum is accompanied by her Consort, by the Political Agent in Bhopal, Colonel Kincaid, and a large retinue.

THE latest news regarding the Gudalur-Beypur Railway is that the total capital is to be £750,000, a third of which is to be raised by the sale of shares in India. Subscription lists for the purpose will be opened in Madras and Bombay. Government will guarantee an interest of four per cent. for five years from the date of contract. These are much the same terms as were granted to the promoters of the Rothschild railway; and the other conditions appear to follow the lines of the Bengal arrangement.

MR. A. M. MONTEATH, Director-General of Post-offices in India, has intimated to the Government of India that he has no intention of returning to this country after the expiration of his furlough. Mr. F. R. Hogg, the officiating Director, will therefore be confirmed in his present post.

THE arrangements for the establishment of a Telephone Exchange in Rangoon have been all but completed, and the formal sanction to beginning the necessary work will probably be shortly forthcoming. Mr. Leggat, while engaged in the negotiations connected with the above, has also, it appears, made a proposal to the Rangoon Municipality to light their town with the electric light. At present the streets of Rangoon are lighted by kerosine lamps, 640 in number, at a charge of Rs 37,000. A system of electric lighting could, it is believed, be arranged for Rs. 20,000.

IT is quite evident, remarks the Amrita Bazaar Patrika, that the sentiments put forth by us with reference to the Russian advance in Asia have deeply offended our contemporary the Bombay Gazette. We shall, however, try to soothe him. We do not want the Russians here, by any means. For, if the Russians come, where would the Patrika be? We only want them somewhere near Herat, so that our ruler may think it worth their while to cultivate the friendship of the people of India.

THE Allahabad paper says that, according to Kabul letters, it would appear that the turbulent Heratis were so pleased with Abdul Kudus Khan that they warned the troops sent by the Amir not to interfere with his Governorship in any way. The Heratis admitted these troops within the walls, but only on the express understanding that they should obey Abdul Kudus in all things; and this seems now to be the existing state of affairs in that city. It is believed in Kabul that Abdul Rahman will visit Afghan-Turkestan in the spring, as he is jealous of his cousin's power in that part of the country, but Ishak Khan is not likely to place his life in danger by responding to any message ordering him to meet hissovereign. Abdul Rahman may make a pilgrimage to Mazar-i Sharief, near Balkh, his excuse for visiting Turkestan.

IN a paper recently read before the Epidemiological Society on the subject of the climate of Indian Hill Sanataria, by Surgeon-General Ewart, some interesting statements are made with reference to the influence of Indian hill climates on those who are affected with confirmed consumption. A few years ago Coonoor in the Nilgherries was greatly recommended to consumptive patients, but the medical profession has now formed an almost unanimous opinion condemnatory of hill-stations in cases of pulmonary consumption. It is found in cases of this kind that the earliest effect of high altitudes—and this is in proportion to the elevation—is to cause the inflamed, irritable, and struggling tissue to do more work than it was at lower levels called upon to perform. The consequence is that the disease becomes aggravated and the end expedited. Doctors, however, have not been unanimous in their condemnation of the practice, and it is satisfactory to hear that there is now an almost universal consensus of opinion among British and Indian medical officers on the subject. Dr. Ewart says that hill stations "are injurious probably at all seasons, but most prejudicial during the monsoon and winter, in all cases of active and advancing pulmonary consumption."

LAST year Commander Denis du Rivoyra, on the part of the President of the Council of the Société de la Union Générale of Paris, entered into a contract with the Managing Director of the Bombay and Persian Steam Navigation Company to work in conjunction in the carrying trade between the ports of the Persian Gulf and the ports in the Red Sea, the Mediterranean, and Europe. The French company were to run their ships direct from Marseilles to the Persian Gulf and back again, calling at Alexandria, Port Said, Suez, Jeddah, Hodeida, Oseir, Kunfeda, Bunder Abass, Lingah, Bushire, Mahomerah, and Busreh. For some time it was uncertain whether this project would be carried out, as since the date of the contract, in April, 1881, only three French steamers came up the Gulf. These principally brought coals for the French company, and had contracts to take cargo to Europe for Busreh merchants. Last month an assistant of the French company arrived at Bushire and joined the office of the Bombay and Persian Company's agents at Bushire. Later the French steamer Breton arrived at Bushire, and taking M. Vorruter, the French assistant, on board, steamed for Busreh. This vessel had chiefly coals on board, and is not one of the regular line of steamers owned by the company. It is given out that the Mokta, one of the Société's steamers, will arrive shortly, and thenceforward the work will be continued regularly as arranged by contract.

REUTER informs us that Mr. Simmons, the aeronaut, and Col. Brine, R. E., in attempting to cross the English Channel in a balloon descended into the sea, and were rescued by a boat. In an English newspaper of January 27 we read:—"Col. Brine, R. E., has definitely arranged to start from Canterbury on Feb. 14 on a balloon voyage across the Channel, the Gas Company of that city having made satisfactory terms with him. Before making the ascent he will receive telegraphic information as to the state of the weather on both sides of the Channel, and he will only start providing the wind is favourable. In selecting an inland town from which to ascend, Col. Brine has had in view the probability of the wind suddenly changing, in which contingency he hopes to be able to make a descent before the balloon reaches the sea." We have here another proof that well laid schemes "gang aft a-gley."

THE GYMKHANA SPORTS.

THE boxes and dress-circle—the tents erected for the ladies and the Gymkhana compound, were very largely patronised on Saturday, and there was an immense gallery, extending all round the course. The events were numerous, and succeeded each other rapidly—no time being cut to waste, as is sometimes the case on these occasions, between the heats; the entries were good, and the sport excellent. The first item on the card was the high jump, which produced an interesting contest between Killick and Little. They both cleared the bar at 5 ft. ½ in., and it was put up next to 5 ft. 1½ in., and they each had three tries at that; but though both very nearly did it, neither quite got clear over, and the bar was lowered again to 5ft. 1in. Killick cleared this in good style at the first attempt; but Little, probably "pumped" slightly by his previous efforts to attain the greater height, failed three times in succession, so that Killick won by half an inch. For the 100 yards race there were five starters. It lay between Johnstone and Arthur, the former winning a good race by a foot and a half, in 10½ secs. Murray was a long way too good for the others at putting the shot. There were some capital throws made by the other competitors, but, however far they put it, Murray put it farther, finally winning with a put of 31 ft. 5 in. (16 lbs. shot), some four feet beyond the next best, by Bunbury. Harrington ran in first-rate form in the Volunteers' 200 yards handicap, winning from scratch by two yards from Brown (5 yards start) in 21½ secs. It was a pity the quarter-mile did not bring more competitors to the post. Bunbury and Arthur really had the course all to themselves, Little merely starting as a matter of form, and falling out before half the distance had been covered. Bunbury's long stride gave him the advantage, and going to the front at the start, he kept ahead throughout the race, though Arthur made a good fight of it and tried hard to overhaul him. He won by five or six yards, in 55 secs. The bicycle race brought out the good field of seven starters, Klingelhofer, last year's winner, amongst them. The first round Klingelhofer led, Paul second, and F. Steers third, Devlin, Palmer, and Barker bringing up the rear. The same order amongst the leading men was kept for two rounds, when Paul passed the leader with a spurt, and took first position for a time. But it was only on sufferance, as Klingelhofer went to the front again during the next lap, and kept the lead to the finish, though Paul pressed him hard and made him ride for it. At the finish, Klingelhofer passed the post some ten or twelve yards in front of Paul. Both men overlapped Devlin before the finish, but he went on and completed the distance, finishing fourth; W. J. Steers was third. The other three fell out before the last round. Klingelhofer's time was 9 min. 15 secs. —not by any means good time for a bicycle on a good course, but there were many things against a high rate of speed being maintained. The course was over grassland with an uneven surface, with stones here and there and occasional patches of loose sand, and each lap being only a quarter of a mile round, there was barely time to get up speed before the pace had to be slackened again to turn an awkward curve. The winner rode a 50 in. Coventry Club bicycle; and another competitor rode a 54 in. machine. In the Veterans' Race Hart, the limit man (40 yards out of a hundred), ran much better than some of the others who were giving him a long start, winning by some twenty yards from Beaufort, Young third. The two scratch men soon went to the front, Harrington especially going at a great pace; but he could not last, and in the last fifty yards McMeekin ran away from him, and won by 10 yards, in 57 secs. There were two races decided on the steeple-chase running—one between Arthur and Bunbury only for the Challenge Cup, and the other between all the competitors, except Bunbury, for the handicap. The first round Harrison quite kept his lead to the water jump, where he lost several yards by getting in and having to climb out, while Wilson got clear over. Little, too, was only slightly wetted; but Beaufort and Ker both plunged into the middle and floundered out together. Arthur came round a long way in front of Bunbury, and the latter lost more ground still at the big jump by slipping when he landed, and falling backwards, partly in the water. The second and last time round Little came with a long lead, and managing to avoid being stuck in the mud, got home some seconds in front of Wilson. Ker was third, passing Harrison in the water and struggling out and home just in front. For the Challenge Cup, Arthur had it all his own way, Bunbury having fallen out, beaten, during the second round; but the handicapping was too severe to give him any chance of the other prize. It is unfortunate that there are so few entries. Badminton has been little played in Bombay of late, and, as there was no sign of any one from up-country entering until quite lately, nothing was done about arranging for representatives for differed clubs, &c. It is hoped that next year tournaments may be got up some time before the challenge meeting, when men can practise and test who are the best players.

BOMBAY VOLUNTEERS' RIFLE MEETING.

THE shooting in the Bombay Volunteers' Annual Rifle Meeting was continued at the Coorla ranges on Saturday. The shooting was not good, the best score made in match D (for the Adjutant-General's prize) being only 60 out of a possible 84 (200, 600, and 800 yards, regulation positions). The weather was not favourable, the light being rather hazy, and the wind very puzzling. The opening of matches I., II., and III. with a v[illegible]lowing men who cannot get away at other times to take advantage of the holiday, did not result in much. Thirteen men fired in match I., six in match II., and only one in match III. We append the list of the following scores made on Saturday:—
